Project 19

19 Commissions Celebrating the Centennial of the 19th Amendment

One hundred years after American women gained the right to vote, the Philharmonic celebrates the 19th Amendment by commissioning 19 new works by women. The multi-season Project 19 launches in February 2020 with a three-week festival featuring three World Premieres plus collaborations with The Metropolitan Museum of Art’s MetLiveArts performance series, the Academy of American Poets, The Juilliard School, and other partners.

Mahler’s New York

One of the most beloved and revered composers, Gustav Mahler took the subway to work at the New York Philharmonic, where he served as the tenth Music Director between 1909 and 1911.

This season, the Philharmonic invites New Yorkers to get acquainted with their fellow straphanger through Mahler’s New York, featuring his first two symphonies, the one-night-only Mahler Grooves concert, a walking tour of Mahler’s New York, and more.

nyphil.org/mahlerny

Major support for Mahler’s New York is provided by Laura Chang and Arnold Chavkin.
Bluebeard’s Castle and Erwartung

A woman wanders a forest at night desperately searching for her lover. Newlyweds Duke Bluebeard and Judith arrive at the Duke’s dark castle, each of its seven rooms more shocking than the last. The Philharmonic presents a staged production of two psychological, Expressionist one-act operas by Schoenberg (1909) and Bartók (1911).

Music Director Jaap van Zweden conducts and 2018 Birgit Nilsson Prize recipient Nina Stemme stars in the US Stage Premiere of this bold double-bill directed and designed by Bengt Gomér. This event will be complemented by our Sound ON series, returning this year.

Hotspots Festival

The final three weeks of the season shine a light on three hotspots of classical music innovation.

Berlin: where the bohemian and underground thrive.

Reykjavík: where Europe’s tectonic plate meets North America’s, where Björk and Sufjan Stevens cross paths with Nico Muhly and Bryce Dessner.

New York City: where leading artists from around the globe convene.

The festival features World Premieres by Berlin-based Olga Neuwirth; Nico Muhly, co-founder of Reykjavík’s Bedroom Community collective; and Sarah Kirkland Snider, co-founder of the Brooklyn-based New Amsterdam Records. It wouldn’t be a new-music festival without Sound ON and Nightcap, featuring the composers of these three World Premieres. It all culminates in a season finale not to be missed.

Major support for Very Young Composers is provided by Susan and Elihu Rose.

“YOUNG PEOPLE’S CONCERTS™
Made famous by Leonard Bernstein, this beloved Saturday afternoon series will highlight music by women and Very Young Composers. All Young People’s Concerts are preceded by YPC Overtures, where children can meet Philharmonic musicians, try out instruments, and listen to music by Very Young Composers.

“A Composer’s Toolkit”
Audiences will explore how tradition and new concepts create a timeless art form. Jaap van Zweden conducts.

“Orchestral Music in America”
The impact of orchestral music spans the globe, and music from America is no exception. Hear how a range of cultures and perspectives come together to create an American voice.
January 18

“Music as a Change Agent”
What are ways in which music can spark dialogue and enact change? This program will highlight composers whose works both reflect and contribute to larger social issues.
March 21

“The Woman’s Voice”
In celebration of the 100th anniversary of the 19th Amendment — which gave women in America the right to vote — we hear voices who helped pave the way and continue to spotlight women’s rights.
